SYNOPSIS

Alberto, a small businessman from Liguria confronted with financial difficulties, becomes a courier for a powerful criminal organization in an attempt to save his company. He hides the truth of his trips from his loving wife Laura who has always appreciated him for his honesty, until a rival gang's interest in the illicit package he is about to deliver forces him to face the consequences of a choice far beyond his nature.

DIRECTOR'S NOTES

The need to protect and maintain one's values and integrity was the starting point which inspired me to write my script. I saw the possibility to make a suspense film which would not follow the typical lines of the genre, where this starting point would become the central theme and allow me to highlight the dramatic nature of such need.

Not an unusual theme but I believe it to be very topical in these present moments of great confusion when the demarcation line between good and evil seems blurred and people find it difficult not to get lost or go astray. History constantly shows us human beings who go down the road of criminality though they are not criminals.

Thus both in my script and in my filming I tried to make a suspense film not necessarily tied to the typical style of suspense genre, but which could be close to reality and offer in -depth drama which would highlight human relationships reflecting present day realities as well as our own.
